GODS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE IMMORTAL

Certainly, between Olympus and the zenith, there may be some changes within the hierarchies from time to time, but it is still reserved for royalty and artists to refer to a divine mandate.

In the enlightened twenty-first century, mankind can read, uses all available media, is always online and present, whether acoustically, in 2D or 3D and all forms of representation that may still come.

We are the artist duo Iven Orx and Aaron Vinn, professionally and privately a team at the side of art and its possibilities. We are convinced that the world is still screaming for paintings. The world wants to see the opulence and joy of colour, also in order to be able to optimally handle the colours of the documentaries about the grey in grey, to rise individually and to be able to take on the presence for a time on this earth in a strengthened and more relaxed way with responsibility.

The sky proves it, there is no colour that does not exist.

With our art we pick up this opportunity and give it a form and our name. The sky is our muse, our inspiration and at the same time the main instance to constantly interrogate our disciplined work and to inspire us at all times.

The present is avant-garde-expressive and we endeavour to live up to our self-demand for creative ideas and forms of expression with the help of humility in keeping with the times and to contribute to changing the actual state of order in the world, addressing everyone in the process, regardless of whether they think in a more absolutist way or feel committed to enlightenment and humanism.
